

curves / switches would be fine for my inventory and limited train table real estate. RR-Track software showed me how to do the update within my constrained table size without sacrificing overall S-gauge or O-gauge functions. Happy it's done.

