

Hello,

For years Lionel has been able to supply service parts to help consumers keep their trains operating in the field. This message is to inform you that Lionel has run out of stock on some older parts and electronics that were once available. For these out of stock items Lionel will no longer be able to produce as they are obsolete from production.

Lionel wanted to alert our Dealer and hobby channel as Lionel recognizes these out of stock items may have impact on any business that offers out of warranty repair services.

Part availability can always be checked by searching the Lionel Support website.

There may be parts and electronics still available on secondary markets.

Lionel recommends any business that performs out of warranty repair services, check and confirm part availability before accepting those older items for repair.

There are still thousands of parts available to order on Lionel's website. Efforts to make new parts available for more recent Lionel production runs are well under way.

Thank you for your continued passion for model trains and Lionel.
